

Including Michigan in the long distance market is a step in the right direction. It levels the playing field in telecommunications. Looking forward to the new options available as a customer.